MAKING BIG EFFORT FOR SPEEDY END TO SPANISH REVOLUTION

Government Throwing Land, Air and Sea Forces in Great Offensive Against Insurrectionists—Assert Decisive Battle Hourly Expected—Portuguese Charge Territory Violated

MADRID, Aug. 13 (AP).—The Socialist Government of Spain tonight threw every force at its command against the Fascist insurrection in a mighty effort to end speedily the death and destruction of civil war.

By land in the south, in the air toward San Sebastian and into the Gibraltar Straits with warships, the Government ordered its greatest offensive.

(From Iron came disquieting news for the Government—that five rebel planes bombed San Sebastian and inflicted heavy damage in a renewed effort to gain that seaside resort on the Bay of Biscay.)

HEAVY BOMBARDMENT
Outside Northern Oviedo, the Socialist fighters hurled heavy artillery fire in an effort to recapture that munitions centre from the rebels.

The Government asserted a decisive battle at Estremadura, in its effort to force a reopening from the capital to Portuguese frontier, was expected hourly. Enemy positions would be subjected to heavy aerial bombardment, the Loyalists said.

In the Guadarrama Mountains all was quiet, with Loyalists waiting until Colonel Mangada's forces consolidate their positions before attacking the Fascists from both front and rear. The Government admitted rebels had taken Merida, near Badajoz, but said that in other sectors insurgents were forced to retreat or held without gain.

TERRITORY VIOLATED
LISBON, Aug. 14 (AP).—Violation of Portuguese territory by Spanish Government troops was charged early today, in a broadcast by Captain Botelho Moniz, director of the Portuguese Radio Club.

He declared a group of thirty Communists crossed the frontier at Campos Maior, seized a Spanish lieutenant-colonel who had taken refuge on a Portuguese estate, and shot him dead.

The alleged invaders, Captain Moniz asserted, pointed guns at Portuguese farm laborers. They were ordered from the property but continued brandishing pistols as they returned to Spain carrying the officer's body with them, he added.

THREATENED HOSTAGES
IRUN, Spain, Aug. 13 (AP).—Rebel bombardment of San Sebastian by air today, in a Government threat to execute 700 Fascist hostages if the city is shelled from the sea.

An aerial attack of five planes, which dropped nearly 100 bombs, left the inhabitants of San Sebastian and Irun in panic, it was reported.

The ultimatum threatening the city was issued by the rebels.

REPORTERS GO OUT ON STRIKE
Seattle Newspaper Misses Edition Because of Walk-out in Newsroom

SEATTLE, Aug. 13 (AP).—A strike called by the Seattle Chapter of the American Newspaper Guild in the newsroom of The Seattle Post-Intelligencer brought a walkout of twenty-two employees out of eighty on the newsroom floor, a spokesman for the newspaper said.

Picket lines, composed partly of guild members and largely of members of other unions, patrolled the streets around The Post-Intelligencer Building.

Refusals to pass pickets
Members of the mechanical unions employed in the plant refused to pass through the picket lines.

Charles W. Hope, regional director of the national relations board, said he was filing a complaint on behalf of the guild against The Post-Intelligencer and its management, setting a hearing for September 8.

The complaint charged the paper discharged two employees because of guild activities and asserted it thereby interfered with the right of employees to exercise their right to bargain collectively.

Connell to Head New Organization On Regina Policy

Vancouver Meetings Result in Complete Break With Provincial Section of C.C.F.—Opposition Leader Sends Out Call for Supporters to Build New Movement

INTENDED formation of an Independent Socialist Movement in British Columbia, which would abide by constitutional means and adhere generally to the principles laid down in the Regina manifesto of the C.C.F., was definitely announced by Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P., yesterday from Vancouver, at the close of a series of meetings held there.

Mr. Connell issued a call to those who have supported his stand in the recent controversy and to others who may agree with his contentions, to join forces with a new movement for the purpose of immediate organization throughout the Province, if this is found feasible. He will return to the British Columbia section of the C.C.F. after the break over the recent convention platform of "socialized finance" and "compulsory labor."

SIX KILLED IN NEVADA MINE
Men Overcome to Fumes Released From Crevice by Blasting Operations

MOUNTAIN CITY, Nev., Aug. 13 (AP).—Six men were killed late today in the workings of the Mountain City Copper Company mine.

Superintendent A. P. Lofkrist blamed the deaths on a "winch" on the 500-foot level. The dead are: John Sheppard, William Burns, Lawrence Willis, June Barr, Albert Atel and Frank Teiskira.

Lofkrist said the men were overcome in a "winch" on the 500-foot level. Their bodies were found by comrades going out to the late shift.

The mine superintendent said an investigation showed lethal fumes apparently had been released from a crevice by blasting.

The accident was the first major disaster in the booming Northern Nevada mining camp.

EDMONTON, Aug. 13 (AP).—Restraining the City of Edmonton from accepting or undertaking to accept "prosperity certificates" from the Alberta Government, an interim injunction was granted here today by Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie, of the Alberta Supreme Court.

Ronald Hannan Watson, mining engineer, "suing on his own behalf as well as other burgesses of the city," asked for the injunction in a statement of claim. Defendants named were Mayor Clarke, of Edmonton, City Clerk Alfred Russell and Hon. J. W. Huggill, K.C., as Attorney-General of the Province.

FIRES MENACE BORDER TOWN

Settlers in Minnesota Ordered to Leave Homes in Path of Blaze
ST. PAUL, Aug. 13 (AP).—Evacuation of several Northern Minnesota border settlers before an advancing Canadian forest fire, came simultaneously tonight with a state command ordering sheriffs of nine counties to close all secondary roads to regular traffic.

Ranger Dick Williams, of Warroad, Minn., notified the State Forestry Department that settlers north of the village in the path of a major Canadian blaze, fled their homes down a narrow road that provides the sole access to the region.

ORDERS ROADS CLOSED
Grover Connet, state forester, dispatched telegrams to sheriffs of nine northern counties, advising them to "post guards closing all side or secondary roads to traffic where these roads lead into large or threatening forest fires."

Three arrests were made today at International Falls, where Ray Palmer, attorney, and Victor Parson were charged with burning without a permit. Virgil Parson was accused of failure to report a fire on his premises.

Four Canadian Ministers Return From Abroad—
Three Attended Unveiling of Vimy Memorial —Possibilities of Trade Expansion Studied

QUEBEC, Aug. 13 (P).—Canadian war veterans received tremendous ovations wherever they went in France on the Vimy Pilgrimage, said Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, on his return from England tonight aboard the liner Empress of Britain.

Numerous French towns struck special medals in honor of the visit of Canada's former warriors, said the Defence Minister. "The reception tendered our veterans by the French Government was one of the most noteworthy events of their visit," he said.

Also returning from the unveiling of the Canadian Memorial at Vimy Ridge were Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Penitents and National Health; Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice. Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, who had attended trade conferences with the British Cabinet, also returned aboard the same vessel.

PROUD OF BEHAVIOR

Defence Minister Mackenzie expressed his pride in the behavior of the Canadians during the pilgrimage to Vimy and the subsequent visit to other parts of France and to Great Britain. "There was not a single complaint of behavior of those on tour, he said.

The memorial itself, he said, was a wonderful tribute to its Canadian designer, inasmuch as it is considered the finest field memorial in the world.

Mr. Power said he conferred with the British Minister of Penitents, discussing matters pertaining to Canadian penitents in England and Imperial Army penitents in Canada.

Drought Reduces Number of Ducks

Duck hunters will have to be content with fewer ducks this Fall, both by reason of Government order and the fact that the birds will be scarce. According to J. D. Soper (above), Canada's chief migratory bird officer, nesting places in the Prairie Provinces have been dried up owing to the prolonged drought, and flocks of ducks, such as shown, will be few and far between.

Renewal of the Provincial highway bridge across the South Thompson River at the eastern end of Kamloops will be completed in a few days time, officials of the British Columbia Department of Public Works said yesterday.

The work has been proceeding for some time, at an approximate cost of $70,000.

Agreement was entered by the Province this week with the Dominion, insuring customary protection to navigation rights on the river, and binding the British Columbia Government to increase vertical clearance above the river at the site if this is found necessary in the future.

Workmen are putting finishing touches to the bridge, under Provincial direction.

Japanese Mystery Man Carves Empire Out of Mongolia

Vague Wanderings of Kakubo Morishima in Far-Off Chinese Province Explained by Infiltration Of Settlers From Japan

By FRANCIS FISHER
United Press Staff Correspondent

PAILINGMAO, Inner Mongolia, Aug. 13 (U.P.).—The genius of a gnome-like little Japanese, with alert brown eyes and a preposterous fringe of chin-whiskers, has led to the addition of some 100,000 square miles to Japan's Continental empire with scarcely any bloodshed. This is the essence of the story of Japanese penetration into Inner Mongolia.

The man is "Dr." Kakubo Morishima, a mysterious figure who for the best part of thirty years has wandered the length and breadth of Inner and Outer Mongolia on ever-changing, vaguely defined business affairs, to emerge at last this Summer as the head of the Japanese Kwantung army's newly-established Special Military Mission at Pailingmao.

The success of Japan's penetration is attested by the fact that Eastern Inner Mongolia today is an armed Japanese-Manchukuo camp. Independent investigators for months have been prohibited from entering the area, but reports from many sources indicate that stores of ammunition and military supplies, hospitals, landing fields and radio stations are located throughout Northern Chahar. Several thousand Manchukuo troops, hastily rechristened the army of Inner Mongolia, garrison the area. It is even reported that regular Japanese troops have been moved into the eastern part of the province.

LAMA'S TEMPLE OCCUPIED

The spearhead of this advance is at present here in Pailingmao, a hundred miles west of the Chahar border, even west of Kweihsia, capital of Suiyuan Province. Here a month ago the Japanese moved into the great Lama temple, adapted a high Lama's compound for their own use, erected a radio station and began storing gasoline and military supplies.

Daily the Japanese military trucks—American-made cars assembled in Japan and taken into Inner Mongolia duty free—race about the plains of Suiyuan and the southern fringe of the Gobi Desert, visiting Mongol princes in their palaces, checking on roads and compiling other bits of useful information, without hindrance.

Effective political control of all Northern Chahar, and of Northern Suiyuan as far west as Pailingmao, is maintained by organs directly subservient to the Japanese Kwantung army. The remarkable aspect of the situation is that all this has been accomplished without the use of regular Japanese troops and with but few skirmishes on the part of Manchukuo troops, and in the face of an evident desire on the part of the Mongols to resist.

KNOW COUNTRY'S CUSTOMS

For years Dr. Morishima and others like him have drifted about Mongolia, making friends with Prince Teh and other princes, learning the language, the customs and the politics of the country. Three years ago, with the Japanese conquest of Jehol and the incorporation of the easternmost part of the old Mongol territory into Manchukuo, their tactics altered slightly.

Gradually they began to press the princes to accept assistance, advice, even arms and money. A group of these agents thinly disguised as Lama priests entered a large temple not far from the Manchukuo border for the ostensible purpose of studying Lamaism-Buddhism. They soon had a radio station operating. No opportunity to render a service to a Mongol dignitary, to leave him under obligation, was missed.

PRINCES GET PLANES

Within a short time small Japanese hospitals were established at several strategic places. Japanese military planes brought Japanese military officers to pay courtesy calls on Prince Teh and other leading officials. Prince Teh repeatedly was pressed to accept the gift of a Japanese plane—and pilot—for his own personal use, a gift which he finally accepted last Summer. By that time Japanese were living more or less openly at the headquarters of most of the eastern princes.

Golden promises of a regime modeled after a nomad's heart's desire, however, uniformly left the Mongols cold. Too many Mongols who had lived under the rigorously efficient Japanese-administered bureaucracy of Manchukuo brought their tales of woe westward for Prince Teh and the others to listen with enthusiasm. But the Chinese Government's power flickered and waned in Northern Chahar as Japan's military power in Manchukuo grew. The Mongols began to face the fact that they really had no alternative.

Tax Collections in Saanich Increasing Councillors Learn

For First Seven Months This Year, $25,094 Was Gathered, Compared With $19,420 for Same Period in 1935, and $14,606 for 1934 Term

STEADY increase in current tax collections on approximately the same levy for the last three years, is shown in an interesting table presented to the Saanich Municipal Council, last night, by Wilfred Greene, acting clerk.

The table follows:
Tax collections to July 31, for past three years:
1934 ..... $14,606.49
1935 ..... $19,420.85
1936 ..... $25,094.56
Taxes outstanding, being delinquent and in arrears up to July 31, follow:
1934 ..... $61,335.75
1935 ..... $62,912.18
1936 ..... $60,912.62

COUNCILLORS PLEASED
Councillors declared themselves pleased over the satisfactory state of affairs.
Permission to erect a $4,000 automobile camp on Quadra Street, between Union Road and Reynolds Street, was asked by Mrs. Emily Hope. The building inspector reported approval of plans providing for five duplex cabins. A committee comprising Reeve William Crouch, Councillors E. C. Warren, John Watson and L. Q. Passmore, was named to look into the matter and given power to act.

REPORT PROGRESS

Progress was reported on construction of the drainage system in the vicinity of Telegraph Bay Road, and work will commence shortly on the lateral ditches.

The council refused an offer of $400 for eight lots on North Dairy Road, below Cedar Hill golf course, maintaining the bid to be too small. It set a valuation of $1,300 on a house and two lots at Darwin Road and Savannah Avenue, which had reverted to the municipality, and declined an offer of $1,000.

A motion to ask the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention, in September, to urge the Provincial Government to reduce the rate of interest on all bonds to 3-1/2 per cent, was debated by the council and finally defeated. Majority of councillors declared they did not favor "repudiation in any way," and thought there were better ways to go about the problem.

Another motion that failed, proposed that the Provincial Government be asked to take over administration of all unemployment relief and assist municipalities on the same basis as at present, that is 20 per cent.

Reeve Crouch was named delegate to the Canadian Municipalities convention, being held in Vancouver on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

PUNISHED FOR IGNORING LAW

Rev. E. J. Springett Advances Interesting Argument in Final Lecture

Crop shortage and disastrous drought alike are due to the ignoring of God's Law and the Sabbath principle given to Israel and recorded in the Book, Rev. E. J. Springett, eminent apostle of British-Israel, told a captivated audience present last evening at the Empire Theatre to hear the final lecture of his present visit to the city.

This Sabbath principle called for the setting aside of one day in seven, and one year in seven, and an additional "Year of Jubilee" at the end of every seven times seven years, for rest. Furthermore, it laid down the principle that land should not be cropped for seven years in succession, but should be allowed to lie fallow. "This principle was laid down so that the land might have rest, to its chemical properties, and the bacteria-destroying forces which would do away with all the insect pests that flourish when the land is steadily cultivated, year after year, without rest and without the opportunity to develop the humus which is necessary to soil," the speaker maintained.

EVASION GOD'S LAW

Modern science for several years had recognized that it was impossible to contend against drought for the simple reason that owing to excessive lifting of the root-crops and the root-fibre that holds the moisture in the soil, the farmer has been unable to contend against drought. In other words because Central Canada and the United States had "mined" the land instead of farming it, they had destroyed the very thing that would have been its safeguard. Any one who blamed the condition on sunspots the lecturer thought must himself be suffering from "sunspots" as the real explanation could be

PROPHETIC MESSAGE

Mr. Springett's lecture last night was a continuation of his "Message of Prophecy" begun last Sunday evening with his first address here. He again spoke of the inevitability of Cello-Saxon unity, which would bring the peoples of the British Commonwealth and of the United States into the only League of Nations that could possibly redeem the world. The Cello-Saxon peoples were the modern representatives of Israel. God had adjured Israel not to enter into any confederation with uncivilized nations, but this, regrettably, Britain had done in joining the so-called League of Nations at Geneva, which had proved so ineffective, the speaker asserted.

Want Government To Take Over All Education Costs

A resolution asking the Provincial Government to assume the entire cost of education will be introduced by Saanich into the September convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

This was decided by the Saanich councillors last night, who maintained such a lifting of responsibilities from the municipalities would be of great benefit.

Councillors said they did not wish the return of Provincial grants to the municipalities but, instead, favored the British Columbia Government assuming the cost of all social services.

CAPT. IRVING BURIED HERE

Final Tribute Paid by Big Congregation at Funeral Rites for Pioneer

The funeral of the late Captain John Irving whose name is so closely associated with the shipping history on this Coast, was largely attended yesterday afternoon. The services were under the charge of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild, embracing most of those identified with transport by sea residing on the Coast.

The pallbearers were all drawn from the guild and included mariners who had been associated with Captain Irving over the many years which he served as a navigator out of Victoria and as the commodore of the fleet which antedated the taking over of the service by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The pallbearers were Captain Arthur Slater, president, Canadian Merchant Service Guild; Captain T. H. Browne, acting Victoria vice-president of the same body; Captain R. A. Hunter, Captain J. C. Foote, Captain C. P. Kenny, and Captain Melville Jack.

KNOWN WIDELY

Present at the services were, not only those who had been associated with the deceased in the navigation of shipping on the Coast, but also the heads of the different shipping companies, including Captain George McGregor and William M. Allan. Also in attendance were many citizens who had known Captain Irving as a progressive resident of Victoria from the early days of the city and who, up to the end of his life, was interested in the development of the mineral wealth of the province.

Hon. Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips, of the Court of Appeal, and Hon. S. Tolmie, M.P., former Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa and former Premier of British Columbia, were among those present.

BURIED AT ROSS BAY

Among the many floral tributes was a floral anchor two feet high with marine-blue ribbon laid two inches wide reaching from the stock to the fluke of the anchor with the gold letters, "C.M.S.G." In addition to this, there were many other beautiful designs of floral character. Besides his widow in Victoria, Captain Irving is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Weston, in England, and Mrs. Henry Millman, in Toronto, and two grandchildren, Miss Evadne Weston, in England, and Lieutenant John Millman, at present with his regiment in India.

TELLS GATHERING OF HIS TRAVELS

Robert H. "Bob" Davis, Well-Known Columbia Rotarian, Rotary Club Meeting

Victoria Rotarians, as well as quite a number of the Chamber of Commerce members, who were present at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday in the Empress Hotel, were entertained by Robert H. "Bob" Davis, of the New York Sun, who related a number of incidents in his world travels on behalf of the newspaper.

Speaking of Russia and his experiences there, he told of somewhat sordid sides to life in the Soviet as he saw it. The banishing of religion from the people by force was alluded to, and he heard young people disown any belief in religion. However, when occasion arose there was still in evidence an undoubted respect for their part for things of a religious cast.

MEET GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Praising the work of His Excellency, Lord Tweedsmuir, the Governor-General, the speaker said he looked forward to seeing him upon his visit here. In 1914, in London, he had made it a point to meet John Buchan, the writer, as he was then known, and he would be delighted to meet him in his new position.

In concluding, Mr. Davis answered the question as to what was the most beautiful spot in which to live, by saying "the most beautiful spot is where I am now."

The speaker was introduced by George I. Warren, publicity commissioner.

FARM HOMES ENDANGERED

Calgary and near the Alberta-British Columbia boundary, that the glare from the fire only six miles distant could not be seen here. Many families prepared to evacuate their farm homes.

IN TEMPORARY CONTROL

CALGARY, Aug. 13 (P)—Wearied fire fighters maintained tonight the temporary control they had won in the past few days over Southwestern Alberta's forest fires, but forestry officials said only heavy rain or snow would quench the blazes.

Forestry Superintendent J. P. Alexander said the fires were being fought in check on most of the acre of fronts. Absence of wind aided workers in keeping the outbreaks under a measure of control, but it was stressed a west wind would set the flames raging through forest timber stands.

A stiff easterly breeze was forcing back upon itself a fire in the Kananaskis Valley, west of Calgary, and men at the scene had no difficulty in keeping it under control. At Cascade Creek another outbreak started to fresh fire for a short time today, but it was quickly subdued.

FLAMES UNDER CONTROL

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 13 (P)—All fires in North Idaho and Western Montana, including the Parker Creek fire in the extreme North Idaho Panhandle, were reported under control today by United States Forest Service officials.

After breaking through control lines under fanning by a stiff breeze, the 8,500-acre Parker Creek fire was checked by an army of more than 600 fighters. Two miles of control lines lost last night were established by mid-morning.

The "Snow" Top Mountain or upper Priest River fire was checked by some 250 fighters after it had burned over 1,000 acres. Early tonight the blaze was completely encircled by fire lines, and hope of holding there was expressed.

The Hunters' Creek fire, near Eastport, on the Canadian-British Columbia border, was held to six acres in the Kananaskis National Forest. It still was raging north of the border, however, having covered approximately 25,000 acres.

Short Bird Season Provided in Twin Set of Regulations

British Columbia Duck Season Almost Eliminated
As Practical Undertaking, While Shooting
Dates on Other Birds Much Curtained

SO far as British Columbia hunters are concerned, game birds in the Province were divided this week into Federal and Provincial birds, with two sets of shooting season regulations announced. Ducks, geese, coots, brant, jack snipe and band-tailed pigeons are under Dominion regulation, and the balance under British Columbia control.

Shooting dates in the Western district, embracing Vancouver Island, were announced as follows:

FEDERAL DATES
Ducks, Geese and Coots—October 17 to December 15, with bag-limit of five geese and twelve ducks October 17 to November 15, daily bag-limit five.
Jack Snipe—October 17 to January 31, daily limit twenty-five.
Band-Tailed Pigeons—September 12 to September 30, daily limit ten.

PROVINCIAL DATES
Blue Grouse—On Vancouver Island and in Islands Electoral District (except Mayne Island), September 12 to October 15.

Willow Grouse—October 17 to October 31, daily limit, all species, six grouse, season twenty-five.

Partridge—In the north, September 5 to October 15, daily six, season twenty-five.

Quail (California)—At most points on Vancouver Island, October 17 to November 15, with Sundays closed in North Saanich district; on Denman and Saturna Islands, October 17 to 31, daily ten, season fifty.

Pheasants—Cocks only, at most points on Vancouver Island and Gulf Islands, October 17 to November 15; in western part of Alberni-Nanaimo riding October 17 to October 31, daily limit three, season twenty.

European Partridge—In North and South Saanich and Highland district, October 17 to November 15, Sundays closed in North Saanich. Daily limit six, season twenty-five.

BAG LIMITS
Season bag limits on migratory birds are as follows: Ducks, 125; geese and brant, 50; jack snipe, 150; pigeons, 50.

Open season in the Eastern district, east of the Cascades, are analogous. In general, the bird seasons this year are much shortened, with duck hunting rendered impractical due to the early closing of the season and the usual late arrival of the ducks.

NAME DOCTOR AND TRUANT OFFICER

City School Board Appoints Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson and George Stuart to Posts

Appointment of George Stuart as truant officer and Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson as city school doctor was announced yesterday by the Victoria School Board.

Mr. Stuart, who has been acting truant officer since the death of W. J. Edwards last April, will serve in a temporary capacity until June 1937. Previous to last April, Mr. Stuart served on the gardening staff for several years.

Dr. Anderson fills the post left vacant by the death of Dr. David Donald, and which had been filled temporarily by Dr. A. G. Price, at the board's request. Dr. Anderson, a graduate of the University of Toronto in 1920, was an intern at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, following his graduation. For four years he was medical superintendent of the Columbia Coast Mission Hospital at Alert Bay. In 1934 he became superintendent of the George McDougall Hospital of the United Church of Canada in Alberta. Last January he returned to Victoria and has been engaged in private practice here.

By halftime they had built up a lead of 25-8 over Europe's strongest team. After Malcolm Wiseman, of Windsor, Fords, and Art Chapman, of Victoria, had opened the game with a flurry of scoring, Doug Peden took over the leading role and held it to the end. When the final whistle blew, the big Victorian had hooped eighteen points. Chapman and Wiseman each had eight.

The defence of the Canadian five baffled the little Poles, forcing them to shoot from far out on the few occasions they were able to get possession.

In the other semi-final, the Americans had trouble solving the Mexican defence and that accounted for the comparative closeness of the score. They were far and away the better shooters, however, and did not over-extend themselves.

Sam Balter, of Los Angeles, and Frank Lubin, Hollywood, led the attack with ten and nine points respectively.

PEMBROKE, Ont., Aug. 13 (P.)—Fred Jennings, thirteen, was killed instantly yesterday when he was shot by Edmond Robitaille, who said he mistook the boy for an animal.

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (P.)—Canada's basketball team overwhelmed Poland 42-15 today with another masterly show of court craft and reached the Olympic final along with the United States.

These North American squads, by far the cream of the crop here, clash tomorrow for the first basketball title in the long history of Olympiads. The Yankees are generally favored to win out.

The Americans, many of them well over six feet tall and sharpshooters all, knocked Mexico out in their semi-final set-to by 25-10.

With the end of the tournament in sight and four straight victories behind them, the Windsor-British Columbia aggregation wearing the Maple Leaf wasted no time disposing of their less experienced foes.

Mainland Shower Relieves Anxiety

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13 (P.)—The first rain in thirty-one days splashed lightly over Vancouver early today. While the shower was brief, the skies remained overcast.

The moisture relieved anxiety among fire wardens in the Coast area, who had reported numerous small blazes during the last dry weeks. No new fires were reported in Vancouver district during the past twenty-four hours.

8 Questions

people ask about the
NEW Motor Oil for
"STOP-and-GO" driving

When so many thousands of motorists start talking about a new motor oil... THAT'S NEWS!

In the few weeks since the new Golden Shell Motor Oil was announced, it has aroused wide comment. Dozens of questions have been asked. Here are a few of them:

1 "What's different about it?"
First of all, it is made to meet a newly found motorizing fact... that approximately 3/4 of engine wear, according to engineers, is caused in the STARTING PERIOD.

2 "Isn't it hard driving that ruins engines?" Driving in the 120° heat of Death Valley... or doing 2 miles a minute on the Indianapolis Speedway can cause less wear than a single start.

3 "Why does starting cause more wear?" One big reason is that oil doesn't flow FAST enough to the 100 moving parts in your engine when you step on the starter.

4 "Aren't there other fast-flowing oils?" It is fairly easy to make an oil that flows quickly even at 40° below zero. It is also easy to make an oil TOUGH enough to stand 120-mile-an-hour speed. The problem has been to combine both qualities in ONE oil!

5 "How does this new oil work?"
The new Golden Shell Motor Oil is FAST-FLOWING so it lubricates instantly in starting... yet TOUGH so it holds up under high heat without breaking down into sludge and carbon.

6 "How was this done?" By developing a new double-treatment refining process at a cost of over $3,000,000. Automotive engineers call this process the biggest advance in 25 years of oil refining.

7 "What can it do for my engine?" The recommended grade of the new Golden Shell Motor Oil can:

SAVE up to 50% on your yearly engine repair bills. (Many repairs can cost from $10 to $100.)

SAVE a gallon of gasoline in every tankful. (The "drag" of an oil that is too heavy can waste over 5% of your power.)

8 "How much extra does it cost?"
Although it costs much more to make than previous oils, Golden Shell doesn't cost you a penny extra. It is now on sale at over 30,000 neighborly Shell stations from coast to coast.

The New Motor Oil
GOLDEN SHELL

"There is either a snake or a hawk over there," he muttered would have to be deaf not to. He listened for a moment, then started toward the Old Orchard.

"There is either a snake or a hawk over there," he muttered, for he had learned much of the little people who live there, and he guessed from the sound of their voices the excitement and anger in them, that one or the other of their two greatest enemies was causing all the trouble. As he walked he picked up a stick and a stone. "They may come in handy," he thought.

Now the birds were so excited, and Chatterer the Red Squirrel, who had been the first to discover Mr. Blacksnake, was so excited, and Mr. Blacksnake himself was so intent on that good dinner that he was so sure of that not one of them noticed Farmer Brown's Boy until he had almost reached them. Then Chatterer's bright eyes saw him. Chatterer gave a shrill cry of gladness. You know, he and Farmer Brown's Boy are now very good friends. Chatterer is afraid of Mr. Blacksnake and hates him, and when he saw Farmer Brown's Boy he knew right away that it meant trouble for Mr. Blacksnake and he was glad. Not that he had a great deal of sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Drummer. If the truth is to be told, I suspect that Chatterer himself would have dined on those helpless babies if he had dared to, but he didn't dare because he has a wholesome respect for the sharp claws of Mr. and Mrs. Drummer. He was glad, not for the sake of Mr. and Mrs. Drummer, but because he felt sure that Mr. Blacksnake was in for a great deal of trouble.

"Kill him! Kill him!" shrieked Chatterer, dancing about in great excitement.

And this is just what Farmer Brown's Boy made up his mind that he would do when at last he caught sight of Mr. Blacksnake just getting ready to take the first of Drummer's babies. Of course, Mr. Blacksnake heard Chatterer and looked around to see what it all meant. The minute he saw Farmer Brown's Boy he wished with all his might that he had been a little quicker in getting his dinner.

Next: Still—Farmer Brown's Boy Changes His Mind.

CONNELL TO HEAD NEW ORGANIZATION

not disclosed the true position as he saw it.

Up to the time of his expulsion he had taken no steps whatever toward their formation of an independent organization, though it had been otherwise represented at the Victoria meeting. He had decided now, in the interest of the main body of those who had supported the C.C.F. on the strength of its Regina manifesto and his own explanation of that platform in the Legislature, to call for volunteers in the creation of the new movement.

CALLS FOR SUPPORT
"I shall be glad to hear from anyone who appreciates my stand and who is willing to co-operate in building up an organization loyal to the principles of the Regina manifesto," Mr. Connell said.

The new organization, he said, would be pledged to carry out the principles of the C.C.F. as expressed at Regina and the C.C.F. which led to those principles as laid down by himself in the Legislature at the last session. The basis of the policy would be adherence to constitutional methods to bring about reforms possible within the constitution of Canada, he declared.

Mr. Connell took issue with the explanations given at the Victoria meeting by Grant MacNeill, M.P., Don Smith and Roger Bray and declared the provincial executive of the party had now shown its hand so clearly that the people of the province could gauge for themselves what it stood for, and that which it represented.

Considerable support had already been offered to the new movement, Mr. Connell declared.

Confirmation of the clean break between the Connell and MacNeill groups of the C.C.F. which led to the decision to organize the new movement, was independently received in this city from those who had attended the Mainland meetings.

Party Frocks Look Well in Daylight and Dark

BALMY summer nights are here—night of soft winds, moonlight and stars, chirping of insects, warm air. There is always much entertaining on roofs, on the verandas of homes and country clubs and gardens, at this season of the year. Much entertaining is done in daylight, as the nights will not be drawing in for some time yet. So dresses must look right by day as well as by night.

At the centre and back is a white silk chiffon gown with cape and tunic edged with large red poppies applied to the chiffon. Notice the corsage of huge poppies at the waistline and that the girl's hair is worn curled high on her head.

The older woman, seated (right), wears a printed silk chiffon dress with three-quarter black marquisette coat, the sleeves being applied in the print of the dress.

Wherever you may be—in city or country—evening parties have an especial flavor in summertime. The clothes for them are especially lovely this season.

Little jackets are a boon to the week-end or vacationist, because they change a dress into something different. They come in a variety of materials and styles, taffeta silk or pique or even printed linen, matching or contrasting with the dress.

These are what some of the most fashionable women in New York society wore at a yacht club affair recently. Printed gowns in black and white, either crepe or satin, were prominent. Most of them were completed by jackets of some kind. There was a pretty red silk patterned in paisley which was given an Oriental flavor by a fluttery wide and matching scarf and long, dangling earrings.

Black satin and chiffon were both favored. One black satin frock had flesh pink revers on the bodice; several women were in sheer black.

What Today Means

"LEO"

If August 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Be charitable in your thoughts this day, for you may not know what justifiable circumstances might cause some friend to act strangely. You are apt to find a good many people ready to argue on the slightest provocation and it might be just as well that you do not give them a chance to do so. If you wish to hold down your expenses this day, you will have to use good judgment in the selection of any form of social activity you invite anyone to participate in. People are apt to lack consideration of the drain it might be on their host's pocketbook, if permitted to make their own suggestions as to the kind of entertainment they would like to join. Married and engaged couples and those whose heart is set on capturing a matrimonial prize must avoid any display of bad humor if they would prevent a quarrel.

If a woman and August 14 is your birthday, study human nature and try to understand the weaknesses of mankind, so that you will always temper your reactions with sympathetic comprehension. Any thing or person lacking refinement is likely to affect you possibly without your realizing it. To be thoroughly happy you, perhaps must have cultural advantages, for instinctively you are apt to crave them. You ought to be a good mimic and if so, be careful that your ability to impersonate is tactfully used, so you will not make enemies out of good friends. As a lecturer, saleslady, teacher, author, musician, actress or singer you may make an enviable record. If you and your husband understand each other, there is no reason why you both should not be very happy.

The child born on August 14 must have the proper attention during adolescence, for neglect might have a very adverse effect upon its disposition. It needs a vast amount of sympathetic affection. If a man and August 14 is your natal day, learn to trust your intuition. Be conservative in your expenditures if you expect your bank account to grow. As an actor, clergyman, politician, salesman, artist or writer you are likely to become very popular.

Bureau of Air Commerce
To Control Plane RoutesNew Regulations Governing Commercial Flying to Become Effective Tomorrow—Even Altitudes
to Be Maintained by Aircraft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP).—Seeking to make the airways safer, the United States Bureau of Air Commerce will institute a wider system of aviation traffic control Saturday.

Designed to guide planes flying a country-wide network of aerial "air highways," officials said today, the new regulations will fix altitudes at which the craft must fly. They will also set up standards for blind flying by operators of private planes.

Already, the bureau has established traffic control stations at the Newark, Cleveland and Chicago airports. It is planning others at Detroit, Pittsburgh, Washington, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

These stations will keep track of all planes moving over the airways and may issue radio orders for changes of speed and direction to insure a smooth flow of traffic with maximum safety.

ALTITUDES SET

The new regulations require that all westbound planes fly the air highways at even altitudes, such as 2,000, 4,000 and 6,000 feet, and that eastbound craft fly at odd altitudes. As an additional safeguard against collisions, planes crossing an airway must fly at altitudes halfway between those for west and eastbound planes, such as 3,500 or 5,500 feet.

Several "emergency altitudes" are designed for use whenever two-way radio communication fails.

SATISFACTORY RATING

The new blind flying regulations provide that any pilot of a non-scheduled plane seeking to use the designated airways must inform the bureau of his flight plans and must hold a satisfactory rating for such flying. The ratings are granted only after pilots have demonstrated their ability through flight tests in hooded cockpits during which they rely entirely on radio and instruments.

To carry out the new programme, the bureau has set up a special section of airway traffic control.

Vancouver Recalls Days of Norsemen

One of the most colorful and picturesque of the numerous celebrations held during Vancouver's Golden Jubilee, was that arranged by Norsemen of the city, who re-created the landing of Leif Erikson on the shores of North America. Manned by stalwart, bearded Norsemen, a replica of Leif Erikson's dragon-shaped longship was towed through the First Narrows to beach on Stanley Park's shore. With a towering hand-carved dragon's head at her bow and a high curving sternpost, the thirty-six-foot craft had a crew of twenty-seven led by George Olafson, who, in red beard, flowing cloak and plumed helmet, acted as bold and adventurous Leif the Lucky. When the craft beached in front of hundreds of cheering spectators, the stalwart Norsemen approached with caution. The Indians formed a defensive circle until Mathias and "Erickson" laid down their weapons and signaled to their men to share in the pipe of peace.

JOE E. BROWN AT DOMINION TODAY

Star Appears in "Earthworm Tractors"—Carol Hughes, June Travis in Supporting Cast

Joe E. Brown comes to the Dominion Theatre today in "Earthworm Tractors," a First National production that is said to be his most hilarious comedy to date.

The picture is based on a series of stories written by William Hazlett Upson and which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Joe brings to life on the screen the hero of these comedies, that blundering, and in his own egotistical estimation, natural born super-salesman, Alexander Botts, who somehow always wins out in the end despite his egregious mistakes.

Joe has two leading women in the picture, one whom he loses to a rival when he leaves town and the other whom he finds is quite unwilling to play second fiddle when he stupidly tells her he would have married the first girl only he discovered that she already had become a bride.

The first love is played by Carol Hughes and the second by June Travis, whose love he finally regains by a series of mistakes in which he almost causes her death and then, playing the conquering hero, rescues her from a dynamite trap into which he had led her, but in a hilarious climax to the story, he sells her cantankerous father a flock of tractors.

"Informer" Stars Victor McLaglen

Gyp Nolan, portrayed by Victor McLaglen in "The Informer" showing at the Oak Bay Theatre today and tomorrow (with Saturday matinee), is a giant Irishman who commits the unforgivable sin of betraying a friend.

It is Nolan's love for Kitty Maden, the principal figure in Liam O'Flaherty's story that makes him forget duty, law and racial traditions. It is to satisfy his desire for money so that he can buy her the things she craves that he betrays his friend who has a price upon his head.

All of the action of the picture takes place in one eventful night, into which is crowded the drama of life and death, love and hate, hope and despair.

INDIA TO WIDEN RADIO SERVICE

Chain of Nine New Transmitting Stations Proposed by Committee

DELHI, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Immediate construction of a radio chain of nine new transmitting stations, located in various parts of India, is recommended in a report to the Government made by M. L. Kirke, director of the British Broadcasting Company's research department.

Construction of an elaborate radio system is in keeping with Viceroy Lord Linlithgow's announced policy to make the fullest possible use of radio. This medium will be used extensively in India's new campaign of rural reconstruction.

Kirke has just completed an intensive study of broadcasting problems in this country. He recommended that the first consideration must be distribution.

To carry out this programme he reported medium wave retransmitting stations should be established in various parts of India. These stations should cater in language and programme material for the province in which they are located.

At present virtually all broadcasts are made from Delhi, Calcutta and Bombay. Empire short-wave programmes are rebroadcast for English listeners.

Considerable research work is to be undertaken immediately to enable maximum benefit from large sums of money the Government plans to spend on radio broadcasting.

Indian universities and three scientific institutes already have started work on various radio and broadcasting problems.

WILL COMPETE IN ANCIENT STADIUM

Large Sports Field of Ancient Pompeii Discovered by Italian Excavators

NAPLES, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Modern Italian athletes are to compete in an ancient Roman stadium which is now being restored outside Naples.

That is the plan which has been evolved to mark the rebirth of the ancient life and continuity of the race," following the discovery of a large sports field of the days of ancient Pompeii by Professor Amedeo Maiuri, superintendent of Pompeii Excavations.

This field, buried in the eruption of Mount Vesuvius which destroyed the ancient city in the year 79 A.D., is 446 feet long and 360 feet wide. It is surrounded with marble walls and the entrances are decorated with marble columns. In ancient days it was an open-air gymnasium with a beautiful swimming pool of plain marble, different from the usual Roman style, in the centre.

During the excavations many skeletons have been found, and their positions indicate that they are those of people who sought refuge at the stadium when Mount Vesuvius rained down death on the city. In the hands of one skeleton were found silver talismans of the ancient Egyptian goddess of fertility, Isis.

The women's section met in the Methodist School on Tuesday. Mrs. S. gave an address on "Women, the Cause of War." A discussion followed—Local Paper.

"Discussion" is putting it mildly we imagine.

"The reports of our special correspondent in Ethiopia are not very interesting."

"Just what I told him just now when I met him in the Blue Lion."

—Moustique, Charleroi.

HART AND DEMPSEY REACH SENIORS GOLF FINAL

Waite Hoyt Twirls Pittsburgh to Win Over the Reds, 5-4

Veteran Pitcher Uncorks Fine Form in Close Decision Over Cincinnati—Giants Beat Out Phillies—Cleveland in Victory

NATIONAL LEAGUE
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13 (AP)—Waite Hoyt, making his first start since an appendicitis operation forced him to the sidelines back in the early weeks of May, pitched seven-hit ball today as the Pirates routed the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 4.

The victory gave the Bucs three out of four for the series. The Reds made a last-minute effort to pull out in front, but the try fell short with the tying and winning runs on base in the ninth.

The Pirates opened the scoring in the first, Fred Schulte tripling and coming home on an infield out. A triple and three singles added more runs in the third. Hoyt doubled and was brought home by Fred Schulte's hit in the fourth, and the winning run came in the seventh when Paul Waner drove Schulte across with a two-bagger.

GIANTS GAIN GROUND
NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Giants pulled up to two games back of second place in the National League today by clubbing out a 5 to 1 victory over the Phillies. Jimmie Foxx and Travis Jackson hit homers for the Giants, and Rube Bressler belted one for the Phils.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (AP)—Johnny Allen, the Yankees' pitching catalyst, limited the Detroit Tigers to four hits today as he hurled the Indians to an 8 to 0 victory, his ninth straight and fifteenth of the season.

With the league-leading Yankees idle, the win put the second-place Indians eleven games back of the leaders.

The tribe pounded Schoenboey Rowe, Joe Sullivan and Clarence Philpott for eighteen hits in taking the odd game of the series.

All the Tigers' four hits were singles, for five innings they went hitless as Allen mowed them down without trouble.

SOX DEFEAT BROWNS
CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Al Thomas checked the Chicago White Sox with seven hits today as the St. Louis Browns pounded out a 7 to 3 victory to win the three-game series, two games to one.

Johnny Whitehead started for the Sox and held the Browns to two hits in five innings, but Julius Solter's thirteenth home run of the season with two on in the sixth gave the Browns three runs.

Bill Shreve pitched the last two frames and yielded three more runs on four hits in the eighth.

POSTPONEMENTS
National—Three games (Boston at Brooklyn to be played later date). American—Four games (Washington at Boston and New York at Philadelphia to be played at later dates).

COAST LEAGUE
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13 (AP)—San Diego's Padres won a hard-fought 10 to 9 victory over the San Francisco Missions here today, giving the Southerners a two-to-one edge in the current series.

The victory broke a three-way tie between the Padres, the Missions and Oakland for third place in the Coast League standings.

Entry List for Tennis Tourney To Close Today
ENTRIES for the Victoria City hard court tennis championships will close this evening at Hickling & Probert's sporting goods store, Douglas Street, at 6 o'clock. The officials will meet in the board room of The Daily Colonist later in the evening to make the draw. The tournament opens on Saturday and will continue for a week on the courts of the Civil Service Club.

Perks, who has held the office ever since the association was formed fourteen years ago, reported the membership was up to full strength with a large waiting-list. Seven members had answered the call since the last tournament. Nineteen resignations were received and twenty-six new members were elected.

Following the meeting the board of governors and the following were elected to the membership committee: C. S. Battie, Vancouver; Josiah Collins, Seattle; R. W. Gibson, Victoria; Judge P. S. Lampman, Victoria; and R. W. Wilbur, Portland.

Helen Stephens Winning Century Dash

B.C. Marksmen Capture Team Event at Ottawa

Shows Remarkable Form in Winning From Rest of Provinces in The London Merchants' Match at the Connaught Ranges

CONNAUGHT RANGES SOUTH
MARCH, Ont., Aug. 13 (AP)—A bronzed little sergeant, T. A. Jensen, of Innisfail, Alta., led 150 sharpshooters into the qualifying round of the Governor-General's Gold Medal competition at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association's annual meet today by firing the record-equaling score of 105.

Jensen crashed the maximum number of bull's-eyes at ranges of 200, 500 and 600 yards to equal the mark reached in Canada only by Lieut-Col. Fred W. Utton, of Toronto, and Cadet E. Winner, of Ennals, when they won the preliminary stage last year and in 1934, respectively.

Nearly all prominent entries made the preliminary grade in what proved to be one of the smallest groups of recent years. Eleven scored 104, while a score of others finished with 103.

There never was any doubt about Jensen's victory. He was definite in each shot as he led the crowd in search of a victory he won once before in 1934.

Those in second place were Sergt. W. H. Edsall, of Kamloops, Ont.; Lieut-Col. C. W. G. Gibson, of Hamilton, Ont.; Tommy Gregory, of Ottawa; Sergt. Major Instructor Jack Trainor, of Toronto; Officer Cadet C. V. Dadd, of Cambridge University; Capt. Jack Steel, of Guelph; Rifleman Ewing of Montreal; Corp. H. L. Taylor, of Montreal; Lieut. R. Sierrar, of Toronto; and Sergt. J. S. Douglas, of Montreal.

YOUNGSTER SHOWS FORM
Bugler Eric Cowan, of Ottawa, a fifteen-year-old boy, aroused admiration of the veterans by placing his shot for 102.

The 600-yard distance took a toll of four crackmen heading for a triple position. They were Sergt. John Borland, of Toronto, winner of the Lieutenant-Governor's match at last week's Ontario match; Lieut. R. A. McKeay, of Vancouver; Sergt. J. D. O'Connell, of Saint John; and Sergt. Carl Dols, of Calgary. All finished with 103.

Members of the provincial branch of the A.A.U. of C., the complete programme follows:
Broad jump
100 yards (raining under twenty)
75 yards (raining over thirty-five)
75 yards, handicap, open.

Tug-of-war, open, catch weight.
Ten men to pull.

Inter-school relay (110 yards, 110 yards, 220 yards, 440 yards).

RE. SQUAD WINS
In the London Merchant's match, shot at 900 and 1,000 yards, the British Columbia team of eight selected men beat all the other provinces, when they put on a record score to win the Canadian team championship. This team was expertly coached by "Badger" Evans, of Victoria, and the other team members were Lt. G. A. Mooney, Fusilier I. M. Grant, Cpl. H. Sanderson, Lt. N. Colville, Sgt. T. Willoughby, Sgt. J. Kier, Sgt. Major Wood, 101, Cpl. Gibault, 100, Cpl. Jones, 100.

Metochin Tennis
Miss P. Jones won the junior singles of the annual Metochin Tennis Club tournament played recently. It marked the second straight victory for Miss Jones and gave her possession of the handsome silver trophy.

Miss (Gwendolyn) May, Ellwood and Terry McCrea tied for second place. Miss Valerie Ellwood presented the cup to the winner.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
John Harvard Did Not Found Harvard—Harvard University was founded by the General Court of Massachusetts Bay in 1636 when the sum of $2,000 was voted "toward a school or college for the purpose of educating English and Indian youth in knowledge and godliness." The site of the proposed college was to be Newtowne, later changed into Cambridge. The first building was erected in 1637.

John Harvard died a year later, leaving about $2,000 and his library of about 300 volumes to endow the college at Newtowne. A year later, and three years after Harvard was founded, it assumed its present name in honor of its benefactor.

No picture or likeness of John Harvard has ever been located and the famous statue is merely an ideal conception by the sculptor of what John Harvard may have looked like.

Gaspereau—Gaspereau is a fish called the "alewife" or Clupea Pseudoharengus. There is a village, a lake and valley of the same name in the Province of Nova Scotia, Canada.

THE TUTTS... By Crawford Young

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

FOOLS

"Fools are my theme," sang Lord Byron, riding Pegasus on a subject that peculiarly has always exercised those who fancy themselves wise. So often is excessive wisdom just another form of foolishness, we should be sure not to be too sure our favorite scientist, Darwin, would not run this risk—the loved fool, experiments and was always making them.

Terrence Inquired: How much does one man excel another?

Jane Dixon Says:

ROUND-UP DAY PROBLEMS INCLUDE THE WOMAN WHO DESIRES TO "PAY BACK" THE MAN SHE LOVES, THE FIANCÉ WHO SQUIRES OTHER GIRLS AND IS CHILDISH AND SELFISH, THE GIRL WHO WANTS A FRIEND TRANSFORMED INTO A SWEETHEART.

Round-up day: I've lost track of the number, but will have it checked and then we'll know exactly how many round-ups have been held in this column's career.

Unhappy: If you truly loved the young man you would not have a burning desire to "pay him back" when he displeases you. He's one of the "ornariest" persons you've ever met. He's indifferent. He shows up an hour late for dates and then makes you do the driving in when you quarrel about it. He doesn't mind your "playing up to other boys" because he's not jealous in the least, while you are "just the opposite." You'd think, my dear, from your letter that jealousy was an admirable quality. You'd think it was something to boast about. Well, it isn't. It's mean and selfish and abominable. If your estimate of the young man's character is as low as you've painted it, you should have no trouble in "giving him up." You say you have no will-power, so probably you will not give up the affair you mistake for love. But I have a suspicion that it will give you up unless your attitude toward the young man and his treatment of you takes a sharp turn to the right.

Bewildered C.P.: Your mind is in a state of chaos and you should take legal steps to straighten out the tangle of your life. All these years you have permitted this man to keep you and his children under a shadow, so that now, if you want to remedy the condition, you must use heroic methods and heroic strength to rectify the injustice. There is no advice I can offer a woman who will submit herself and her children to such treatment. See a lawyer or take your case to the court of domestic relations.

THIS CALLS FOR A MIRACLE

Edith: Only a Miracle Woman could transform a friend into a sweetheart for a client, and I am no miracle worker. If your indecision has cost you the affection of the young man, "A" whom you now think you love for "always," you'll have to take the loss and try to be as sporting as possible about it. You cannot force him to be as he was in your sweetheart days. Accept his friendship, and do not make a display of your love. Just be friendly and impersonal, and if the spark is left in his heart, he will rekindle it.

Anxious Mother: I was delighted to have you and your daughter write to me, each explaining her side of the problem. The inconvenience of your home probably is the reason for the boy's reluctance to call on and for your daughter. We'll not arrange a little gathering for your son and daughter and make it true country style. My crowd never had a better time than when we went for a picnic or an oyster stew or a country supper to one of the farms within driving radius of the home town. These were red letter events of the year and I'm sure none of us ever have forgotten them. Young people respond to true hospitality wherever it is offered. If I can help you further, I shall be happy.

Chubby: It appears that the young man is too young to marry you. A real man does not whine and "wish he were dead" because he can't have his way. This chap who avows his love for you has other friends, squares other girls. You should have a like privilege. His conduct is both childish and selfish. Better postpone marriage talk both of you until 1937; then see how you feel about it.

Having Friends: The young man is not seriously interested in you else he would accept the truth as you gave it to him. You can prove your point by continuing to be friendly and by raising your head above his ugliness and suspicion.

THE RETURN OF JOAN

by JOSEPH McCORD

SYNOPSIS
Having lost her job with a retraining Philadelphia insurance concern, Joan Kendall returns after several years to her parents who own Layland Cottage, near Waples Beach, a South Atlantic shore resort. One of the guests is Deeds McCune, red-headed and freckled, who wears unsmiling glasses to ease eyes strained while working under strong lights on models posed as window displays. Deeds is a well-known artist. The second day he meets Joan on the beach, and after a laughing exchange of autobiographies, she volunteers that she is a model. Deeds is a visitor at Layland. Gene Gaston is Anne Lindsay's son by her first marriage. Eldest Dr. Elton Elledge is a "nerve" child in a marine disaster. His brother John, also a physician, is devoting his time to Joan's rehabilitation. Joan says she hadn't seen Gene for a long time until her recent return. When she saw what Joan's detached manner indicated, and found himself smiling, he decided to plunge into the surf. Deeds asks if he may wait back with her to the cottage. On the way they meet the Elledges. Joan is affable, but when he meets Elledge, Joan to Joan his brother is gruff and discourteous. Joan, however, is a good natured, walks on, and asks Deeds to call on them that afternoon, as Joan needs diversion.

CHAPTER II
The guests at Layland Cottage ate their three daily meals in family style, ranged along the two sides of a single lengthy table. The board was completely reset after each meal, and black Salina assisted by robust Mrs. Kendall, made short work of marshaling the viands in the kitchen, preparatory to the sounding of the chimes in the lobby and living-room combined.

A thin-legged colored girl named Rosemary appeared at the cottage before each noon meal to attend to the meagre serving required in the dining-room and to help with the dishes. She performed the same rites in the evening, and was supposed to make herself useful in various capacities during the interim. At the time of Deeds McCune's arrival, the guests with something of an air of permanency were the Dr. Elledge, Mrs. Lindsay and her daughter, and Gene Gaston. The others were the hardy-annual vacation variety of the few-week species. In order of importance, their list might have begun with the Rev. Edgar Beckham, his wife and young son Middleton.

The Beckhams were a mild and inoffensive pair, and their offspring endured the name of Middleton and the misfortune of buck teeth. Young Middleton seldom was seen during the day, save at meal time, and then, to the surprise of the guests, he was heard of the grown-ups, seldom was heard of.

A trio of elderly females accounted for the other transients. Two were sisters, the Misses Rhetta and Evelyn Dougherty, respectively a private secretary and a hotel housekeeper from a neighboring city. The third was Miss Myra Anderson, close friend of the Dougherty sisters, and a department store employee in the gloves, was her explanation, if one proved necessary. These three, as well as the Beckhams, were but recently arrived, and an air of polite restraint still was noticeable when the company gathered at meals.

Gene Kendall, exuding a species of forced geniality, occupied the head of the board. He was a small, wiry man, gray-headed, and tanned to a rich mahogany shade. Gene inclined to an easy informality in dress, his position as manager-hotel carrying with it the apparent right to wear scuffed yellow slippers without regard to other changes in his costume. Martha Kendall, gracing the foot of the table, was stout but faded, with pale and restless eyes. From the manner in which her glances traveled from platter to plate, it was evident that Layland's meals were her chief concern. She seldom spoke unless directly addressed, and there was an aimless reluctance in her spare conversation. Deeds McCune had concluded almost at once that it was Mrs. Kendall who was mainly responsible for the functioning of the household machinery above and below stairs—that Gene's apparent command of the "front" was more or less a self-satisfying pose. It was

DAVID SPENCER LIMITED

Deeds sauntered out on the front porch to stand staring moodily at the ocean. The rocking chairs were deserted. Everybody was heading for an afternoon nap, he decided. All but Joan. She would be leaving the cottage shortly and walking to Waples Beach alone. If only he hadn't promised that fat doctor to call on his brother, he thought. Or had he promised? The man had taken it for granted his invitation was accepted and named an hour. If he decided not to show up at the specified time, Deeds told himself that it would be easy enough to take an excuse. No great fun trying to entertain a hypochondriac, anyway. Much pleasanter to stroll with Joan. He could hang about and amuse himself while she was undergoing the process of being made beautiful. Perhaps she would be willing to.

Deeds awoke about alertly at the sound of a step in the hall.

Instead of seeing Joan, as he expected, he found himself staring into the blue-grey eyes of Gene Gaston.

As Deeds had admitted earlier in the day, he had not gotten very far with this slim, black-haired youth who was regarding him now with a questioning smile. As if he were politely amused at the eagerness the other had displayed. "Care for a cigarette?" he ventured. "Thanks. I'm smoking." Deeds lifted his hand in proof and unobtrusively resumed his former position, with one shoulder against a porch post. "You have plenty of fresh air here," he offered amiably, as Gaston gave no evidence of leaving. "Usually." Deeds was forced to admit that the answer was all that his effort merited. He tried again, this time endeavoring to simulate a degree of interest. "Been coming here long?" "Ever since I was a kid . . . off and on, and on that is." "It's my first visit. Very good beach for bathing, I think." "One of the best along this shore." "How?" "A lot of the other stretches are all shelves and pot-holes. Pretty level here. The undertow's a little bad until you get accustomed to it. Hope you're staying a while." "Thanks. I have no very definite plans." Deeds' tone was more gracious. He was conscious of an effort to explain to his own satisfaction why he didn't exactly like this good-looking chap. Younger than himself, he believed . . . not more than twenty-three or four. Rather fastidious, even in his informal dress. Moxied with an almost graceful ease . . . perhaps that was it. A little too much assurance. It aroused an instinctive . . . suspicion, almost. Might a few young fellows had a right to that air . . . unless they were grifters of some sort . . . living on someone else's money. Deeds pulled himself up short. He didn't know the first thing about the chap. Perfectly decent, so far. But Joan had shown an odd restraint when Gaston's name was mentioned . . . gave the impression she didn't care to discuss him. So what? "On a vacation?" Deeds inquired carefully, tossing away the stub of his cigarette. "In a way. Mother's been coming down here for years . . . her one of putting in a Summer. Claire usually shows up for a part of the season. Too quiet for me. I haven't bothered with the place much . . . until this year. Thought I'd try it. Nothing else to do." "Something like Miss Kendall?" Deeds said it, almost unthinkingly. "She was telling me this morning." He explained somewhat hastily under Gaston's inquiring regard, "that it was her first Summer here in some time."

"I rather believe so," Gene admitted noncommittally. He consulted his wrist watch unobtrusively, but Deeds felt his resentment rising anew. Obviously, Gaston was waiting for someone.

As if in answer to the unasked question there came the sound of feet hurrying descending the stair within. Crossing the hall, Joan appeared in the open doorway, looking a trifle flushed and breathless. "I hope I haven't kept you."

She broke off at the sight of Deeds. "Gene is driving up to the beach. He heard me dreading the walk and offered me a lift in his car."

"Fine," was Deeds' brief comment. Why the elaborate explanation? And why did Joan appear so ill at ease? If such a thing were possible, he could very easily have imagined there was some sort of an appeal in her eyes. As he expected, somehow, it was young Gaston who took over. "I've only a roadster," he offered amiably, "but it seats three well enough. If you'd care to ride as far as Waples, Mr. McCune, Joan could have company home. I'm going on up the shore a bit."

Deeds was conscious that Joan's eyes were fixed on his face, but he refused stubbornly to meet them. "Sorry," he evaded. "I've an engagement."

"Too bad. We'll make it another time." "Sure." Deeds did not look at Joan until he knew she had turned to go.

He sauntered down the porch steps and strolled in the direction of the water, an unlighted cigarette thrust in one corner of his tight mouth. His watch told him that he had the best part of an hour to pass before presenting himself at the Elledge door, so he kept on down the beach until he fancied himself safe from intrusion. Finding a sheltered retreat at the foot of a dune, he stretched himself out in the sand to consider matters.

Joan again. He was picturing her as he had found her on the beach. He'd accused her of staring at the water and not seeing it. Here he was, doing much the same thing. Why did the recollection of a strange girl . . . well, almost a stranger . . . make him so restless and uneasy? He had been attracted to her oddly from almost the first sight. He wanted to know her. He thought he had succeeded. Then everything seemed to go wrong all at once. Had she really engineered that change of seats at the table? If so, why? Her idea of a joke? Gaston sat across from the other members of his family. He had watched his sister with an air of languid encounter with her new neighbor. Something about that fellow . . . (To Be Continued)

MAY HOLD COUNCIL MEETING ON MONDAY

There may be a meeting of the City Council on Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall. The subject of the meeting is the granting of leave to cut timber under a selective system of designating the areas to be cut. The meeting depends upon whether the city solicitor H. S. Pringle returns in time to allow of his going into the question involved and of making a report on the subject to the council. This involves the question of the legal aspect of the matter on which there is a divided opinion as to what the powers of the council are. The Water Board awaits the opinion of Mr. Pringle before making a definite recommendation to the council. The same time is not prepared to act until advised along this line.

Methodism in Great Britain is called to face a decrease in numbers of scholars in the Sunday school, a problem which is disturbing most, if not all the British churches. In 44 per cent of the circuits not one scholar during the year was added to the church roll.

Temperatures as low as 90 degrees below zero have been recorded in the province of Yakutsk Siberia. It is said to be the coldest inhabited spot in the world.
